

5.3.5 Personalising the Feed

For companies that wish to receive or send Right Share claims it is often essential that the web server of a company knows who is calling one of its Web Services.

This can be done with or without formal authentication (see the next two sub-clauses). The benefit of using formal authentication is that it also allows to make the information exchange secure.